Governor Says the Republicans Can Sweep Oklahoma if They Get Together-Statehood Sentiment on Wane-Great Prospects for Farmers.

Governor Barnes, of Oklahoma, spent last night in Kansas City. He came in from Guthrie with the intention of going right through for Chicago on a private business trip, but his train was late and he missed Eastern connections. The governor is well pleased over the result of the recent attempt to have him ousted. Although he says little about it, his countenance dicates that he thoroughly enjoys the vic-

"Charges were preferred against me at Washington," said he, "but they were not considered of sufficient importance by the president for him even to mention the matter to me. Of course it is gratifying to know that the administration has that much confidence in me. I do not anticipate any further trouble along that line." This is all the governor would say about his tribulations. "George A. Outcalt, of Pottawatomie county, will be the territorial census supervisor beyond a question," said he in opening up on Oklahoma politics. "Bill Grimes was indersed by Congressman Flynn, but Director of the Census Merriam wrote us that there were so many protests filed against Grimes that the president would not appoint him. He asked Flynn, Secretary Jenkins and myself to get together on a man. We held a meeting Friday and Flynn and myself agreed upon Outcait. We sent our indorsement for him to the department at the conclusion of the conference. Jenkins insisted on the appointment of O. A. Mitscher, of Oklahoma City, but after the meeting, when he learned that Flynn and myself had forwarded our indorsements, he said that he might possibly indorse Outcait himself. This practically settles that question. It developed during our conference that Jenkins was laying his plans for election as delegate to the next national convention, and that he expected the census supervisor to help him out. not appoint him. He asked Flynn, Secre-

"The farmers of Oklahoma are in excel-ient shape," said he. "There never was such a wheat crop. We will raise at least 10.000,000 bushels. The corn crop is also in good condition. We are prospering. That is indicated by our assessors' returns. Reports received at the territorial auditor's office show that the local assessors have raised the assessment of the territory $10.000,000 over their assessment last year. Of course, you remember that the territorial equalization board last year raised the total assessment, as returned by the local assessors, $2,000,000. But the assessors this year went the board one better, and raised our last year's figures $1,000,000. These figures must stand, on account of the new law."

Governor Barnes says that the new boom town at the end of the Rock Island extension in the Washita country must change its name. It is known as Mountain View. There is a Mount View postoffice in the Washita country, and Mountain View in the Indian Territory. In order to prevent errors in the handling of mail for the three towns, the postoffice department will insist that the new town adopt a new name.

AGREEMENT NOT YET REACHED.

Castern Lines Are Still Wrestling With the Freight Rate Question,

Without Result. The meeting of the traffic officials of he Eastern roads in Chicago during the oast three days does not promise any definite results in bringing about an improve ment in the present condition of castbounrates. The representatives of all the roads are agreed as to what is desirable, but many different plans of procedure hav been advanced, to all of which objection are raised.
The special committee appointed to sug-

are raised.

The special committee appointed to suggest a plan for advancing the rates submitted a report recommending that on July 24 the following rates shall be put in effect:
On grain and grain products from Chicago to New York locally. Is cents per 100 pounds, an increase of half a cent; on all export grain, except corn, 13½ cents per 100 pounds, an increase of 4 cents; and on 6ats, 15½ cents, an increase of 4 cents; it he rate on export corn to remain at 13½ cents; the rate on export provisions to be advanced to 25 cents, the present rate being 20 cents; and the domestic provision rate to remain at 25 cents.

Then the discussion began over the report of the committee. Out of the talks of the various officials the fact was immediately disclosed that contracts are in existence between the roads and the heavy shippers of grain and that many of them have yet sixty days to run. Some even claimed that contracts have been made in some instances that extend to the close of navigation. How to get these contracts out of the way is now the question, and no remedy has been offered. Or in other words it is possible that an effective agreement will be impossible until the close of navigation. In the meantime the shipper is thankful that navigation is open, and that it is several months before it closes.

Only one thing was settled, namely, that export provision rates should be advanced to 25 cents.

The position taken by the railroads in this matter is stated.

DEATHS AT "BABY HOME" DUE TO NATURAL CAUSES.

Mrs. Nelson, Matron, Denies Charges Against Her-A Dead Child's Mother and Neighbors Defend Her.

The attempts to manufacture a sensation out of the deaths that have occurred at the "baby home" kept by Mrs. Rosa Nelson at 613 Oak street have failed. A reporter for The Journal cailed at the "home evening and witnessed a sad and touching

The "home" is located in the rear up that stands back in the yard. In the room at dark the reporter found Mrs. Nelson, several women neighbors and Dora Fin ley, the latter the mother of the child that died yesterday. The dead baby lay in a coffin on the washstand. The mother was prostrate on the bed, weeping and worn out over her long vigil at the side of the child.

Mrs. Nelson talked freely about her hom Mrs. Nelson talked freely about her home for babies and about the deaths that had taken place there. That five infants had died on her hands in a week she ascribed to "bad luck." She said she had been a nurse for thirty years and previous to last week had lost only one child in that time, and it had been brought to her in a delicate and critical condition.

In nearly all these cases the mothers are working girls and compelled to earn a livelihood.

For keeping the children, Mrs. Nelson explained, she receives 32 a week, which For keeping the children, Mrs. Nelson explained, she receives $2 a week, which comes out of the wages earned by the mothers' hard work. ful to their children, and had always paid her fully for her services.

She said a week ago she had five children. The Finley woman's child was taken ill a couple of weeks ago, and soon after the other children became sick. The city physician was sent for and prescribed for them. Mrs. Nelson says the medicine failed to relieve the suffering infants.

"It was as strong as cayenne pepper," she said, "and nearly strangled them." Mrs. Nelson said that she believed the death of the children was due to cholera infantum and to teething. She said this was also the view of the physicians who had called to see the children last week. Dora Finley, the mother of the dead child, said: "I have no fault to find with Mrs. Nelson. She did all any woman could do."

Mrs. Nelson. She did all any woman could do."

Mrs. O. V. Phillips, who lives down stairs, said that Mrs. Nelson had taken good care of the children, and their death was not due to any lack of attention on Mrs. Nelson's part. She said the children would be living if they had not been deprived of their mothers in the recent excessively hot weather.

Other neighbors corroborated Mrs. Phillips' statement.

The room where the children were kept was exceedingly clean and tidy. It was comfortably though cheaply furnished, and had plenty of ventilation. Mrs. Nelson said she gave each child a bath every morning. They slept on a large bed, while she occupied a pallet on the floor. Mrs. Nelson appeared very much distressed over the ill reports that had been circulated on account of the death of the children. She is a woman nearly 69 years of age, intelligent and of neat appearance. She has been a widow for a number of years and has made a living by caring for children.

To The Journal.

I notice that the state line proposition comes up periodically to ver the two Kansas Citys. I have a plan for the solution of that question. In brief it is: Have Kansas cele Wyandotte county, and Missouricede Jackson county, to the government, establishing out of the two counties thus ceded a province or governmental district to be governed something after the order of the District of Columbia is governed by a concrassional commission. A similar commission could be appointed for the Ransas City district, or arrangements could be made whereby the people could be given home rule. This would eliminate the two sets of county effects and two sets of city officers now drawing salaries, and would put the district under one set of officers, making the government much cheaper and much more astisfactory. It would also eliminate the factional feeling between the two cities and make them geographically, as well as commercially, one city. The people could be given conferenced and make them geographically as well as commercially, one city. The people could be given conferenced and make them geographically as held to vote for presidential electors. The only officers they could not vote for would be state officers, because there would be no such thing as state officers, because there would be no such thing as attate officers, because there would be no such thing as attate officers, because there would be no such thing as attate officers, because there would be recombined city, as suggested, the Jackson county jail could serve as the penitentiary and the Wyandotte county jail as the insame assium. Under this system every facility for better municipal and district government could be provided for, and Greater Kansan City would indeed be "a good blace to live in."

"There might have been formaldehyde in the milk," said Schwab's chemist, "but it went away."

"Well, there is but one way to settle this," said the judge. "Mr. Carter, take this sample of milk and seal it up, and it want you and the other chemist to get together and analyze it. If there was formaldehyde in it, as Mr. Carter says, it must be there yet, and together you ought to settle the question beyond a doubt."

Mr. Schwab will learn his fate next Saturday.
